ASQ MISSION

To facilitate continuous improvement and increased customer satisfaction by identifying, communicating, and promoting the use of Quality Principles, Concepts and Technology.

Dear ASQ-0704 members,

Things are moving quickly: the mid-year, summer and monsoons are here in the valley. Our Section's Executive Committee is working on the items we had planned to bring you during 2018. So far the programs have been well received and we have been trying to highlight the benefits of your ASQ membership. We hope you have found something new. Now it is time to start working on plans for 2019, including preparing for the GCC transition.

Following certification last month the ASQ benefits review this time will be what to expect with the recertification process. Those with advanced certification will need to keep their certification current. Every 3 years you need to have accumulated 18 RU credits. Credit for working, education, and other activities that show continued learning and development. Today's process is moving to entirely on-line system and being able to keep running records as you go. Now with the credit for membership and meeting credit of 0.5RU it is getting faster and easier to complete the process.

There is more information at the ASQ web page, Learn more ways to obtain RUs and the recertification process today.

This month's meeting topic will be ANSI/ASSP/ISO-45001 is Finally Published! An Occupational Health and safety Management Systems by Patrick White. With his experience in Quality and Health & Safety Management and a part of the groups that prepared the standard, he will discuss the standard, how and why it is used and the compatibility with ISO9001 and others in modern standards. This should make for a very interesting presentation.
